ABOUT THIS PROFILE

The DRT Personality Profile has been designed to succinctly provide you with an overview of your Personality Traits, your Social Behavior as well as your General Characteristics.

THE IDEA BEHIND THE DRT SYSTEM

The quality of your decisions can make or break the change you ultimately seek in your career. Better career decisions come from knowing the CAREER OPTIONS that you have at any given point in time. If the quality or number of options is limited, you can't possibly make 'better' decisions.

THE MECHANICS OF THE DRT CAREER PROFILING SYSTEM

The DRT or Decision Referential Technology refers to the system developed by Joey Yap Research International, designed to help people make better decisions in life by analyzing personality. It traces its roots to the principle fundamentals of the ancient time-tested system of Chinese Astrology (BaZi), which has evolved over the years to become simpler and more applicable in today's workforce context. It is a powerful and accurate system that has had proven success and efficacy throughout the course of Chinese history. The findings are based on a science of complex calculations and intricate theories, and involve more than typical animal sign predictions. More information is available at www.drtprofile.com.

Disclaimer:

The purpose of this report is to help you broaden your understanding of yourself and to plan well for your future. This report is only one source of information. When choosing a career or contemplating a career change, you must also consider your current abilities and skills, your lifestyle, work and leisure interests, as well as your goals and objectives. You will also need information about specific tasks involved in different occupations and career opportunities to make an informed decision. This report should never be used in isolation, but always in conjunction with both an interview and a process whereby your career objectives are discussed with a skilled counselor or trained professional. As you review your report, remember that managing your career is not a one-time decision but a series of decisions made over your lifetime.

PERSONALITY TRAITS

Your Profile suggests that you are a thoughtful, analytical and generally reserved person who proceeds with caution. You can even be prone to overthink matters and so it is apt to describe you as sensitive. You often have larger than life ideas and a sweeping vision for the future and how things could be but require the assistance of others to bring these to life. You operate at your peak level of effectiveness and satisfaction when you work on bringing your dreams to life, even if you have to start small.

SOCIAL BEHAVIOR

You are emotional and friendly in a social environment and others find you easy-going. With your quick wit and individual style you are gregarious and charming. This genial front often belies your shrewd ability to assess others quickly. You are, however, caring and protective of the people around you.

At times you may seem guarded and reserved with others which may lead them to feel you are secretive and aloof. This may also present itself as a 'holier than thou' attitude but you are generally eager to please and have a sincere concern for those around you.

GENERAL CHARACTERISTICS

Your dominant character trait is an unsurpassable thirst for knowledge combined with an innovative mind. As a result you are constantly deep in thought on various issues which intrigue you and will apply what you learn to practical issues. You find it easy to work with others which gives you natural leadership skills. You are something of a puzzle to those around you as it is difficult to understand what you are thinking, giving you a sense of the mysterious. You have a dualistic nature which adds to your beguiling character.

You have an overwhelming determination to succeed. Additionally, your ability to come up with original and inventive ideas means you work through projects quickly. Occasionally you require a nudge in the right direction, which you are generally grateful for. In the right circumstances, you can blend these characteristics to turn your dreams and ideas into reality and achieve the success you crave.

You have an artistic flair and you are easily attracted by life's luxuries. As a result you are motivated by material wealth. While you will generally accumulate the financial security you desire you must be alert to occasional health problems. You thrive on new experiences and are often motivated by travel. Overall, you are fortunate and can expect an abundance of material comfort.

Your determination and business minded approach is at odds with your generous nature. You are altruistic, compassionate and kind to others. For personal security, you need to feel a strong sense of belonging, although on an emotional level you may appear to be contradictory. On the surface you may be aloof, cold and detached which disguises your bighearted humanitarian nature. Be mindful that this may manifest itself in an airy superiority.

At times, your excessive need to belong means you are overly attached to material wealth which may lead to anxiety over many issues, particularly when it comes to money. Your dualistic nature means you can swing between extremes of enthusiasm to impatience, jealousy and moodiness. You must learn to avoid critical outbursts and irresponsible actions, especially in the working environment when a project does not progress as planned.
