

Feb 3rd 2017 - Feb 4th 2018

CAREER & BUSINESS RELATED OPPORTUNITIES & CHALLENGES

All good things are finally coming your way this year as things are looking brighter than ever. Your dedication at work will now bear fruit and you will be very pleased with the positive outcomes. Any obstacles that you had faced before will all be in the past. If not, they will be resolved quickly and effortlessly, allowing you to continue on a streak of good luck.

As you continue along this path of good fortune, you will notice more areas of opportunities opening up readily for you – especially if you had set your sights on them from the beginning. All your business and career prospects will also continue to progress well beyond your expectations and you will also be rewarded handsomely for your work contributions as well. And any plans to start a new business or join ventures will be green lighted with minimal obstacles.

Your workplace will be bursting with positive good energy throughout the year as your working relationship with your colleagues and superiors will blossom even further. You will encounter nothing but a thriving work environment filled with dedication and respect and this will also be reflected in your customer relationship too. If you are in a leadership position, you will find your staff giving you nothing but the utmost respect and support.

HOME AFFAIRS AFFECTING WORK PERFORMANCE

Issues within the household may cause you to feel especially troubled or burdened. This is especially true when it comes to relationships or financial matters. When it comes to responsibilities, you tend to take the lion's share of the work. You feel accountable for the family and strive to take care of everyone. This responsibility adds additional pressure on you and the stress can impact your performance at work.

When life seems to be difficult, unburden your worries with a loved one and close family member. By confiding in them, you will be able to release some of your unhappiness and stress. You need to learn to relax and get over small disasters. Even when some things do not turn out well, you should avoid beating up on yourself. When you are melancholy or depressed, turn to your family members. They will be able to give you the emotional support necessary to improve your outlook and confidence in the workplace.

GROWING YOUR SOCIAL NETWORK AND CONNECTIONS

Your lucky streak will continue further as you are constantly surrounded by good and noble people in your social and professional circles. It is through these connections that you will discover new opportunities to boost your professional path further. Mentors and advisors will show up through your connections and they will help you in your career and business progress.

However fortunate you are this year, you have to remain humble and honest with those around you as developing a trusting relationship takes time. When this happens, you will find help whenever you need it the most. But do remember to show your gratitude for all the help that you will be receiving this year though.

ALIGNING YOUR THOUGHTS & ASPIRATIONS WITH A BRIGHTER FUTURE

Well-loved and respected, you can always count on the love, guidance and support of the people in your life. All aspects of any relationships that you have and develop will always be genuine – though you must not take them for granted, ever. You will be surrounded by positivity that will boost your self-confidence and motivation in whatever you do and this will carry on as you continue to thrive on your professional path.

Feb 3rd 2017 - Feb 4th 2018

IS THIS A GOOD TIME TO GO ON YOUR OWN?

At some point in your life, you may have entertained some thoughts about stepping out to pursue your own ventures. You may have long desired to work for ownership, while having that flexibility of being your own boss. But is this a good time to pursue your dream as an entrepreneur? Successful entrepreneurs share many traits in common. The next section lists the top ten traits of successful business owners, and it measures your present mindset and mentality against these traits. This would give you an indication of your potential to succeed as an entrepreneur.

| NO | TRAITS | YOUR QUALITIES | SCORE |
|-------------------|------------------------|---|----------|
| 1 | Focus | There will be no major 'distractions' for you this year. Therefore, you are likely able to focus more on your business or career if you set your mind to it. | 1 |
| 2 | Commitment | You would be very meticulous about the decisions you make this year. Once a decision is made, you would tenacious in your efforts and see it through to its completion. | 1 |
| 3 | Self-control | You would likely have the discipline to take the necessary steps to achieve your goals and objectives this year. You are also not easily swayed away from your course. | 1 |
| 4 | Proactiveness | You are driven to take a proactive approach to reach your goals, without the need for anyone to give you instructions or that extra push to go forward. | 1 |
| 5 | Competitiveness | You have the competitive spirit in you this year. You would be very motivated in your pursuits and will find all means to succeed. | 1 |
| 6 | Innovation | You may lack any fresh ideas to start something new this year, and will have to rely on existing or conventional concepts to get things done. | 0 |
| 7 | Determination | You have a high level of self-determination this year. This would propel you to make your endeavors a success. | 1 |
| 8 | People Skills | You have the ability to connect with people better this year. Subsequently, this would have led to a higher chance of you influencing others in your favor. | 1 |
| 9 | Risk Tolerance | Your risk-tolerance level is lower than usual, which would make you more wary about taking any business/career risks this year. | 0 |
| 10 | Compulsion | You have a genuine interest in what you do, and you are likely to be more compelled to make your own business or career a success. | 1 |
| YOUR SCORE | | | 8 |

INTERPRETATION OF SCORES*SCORES BELOW 3:

Profiles of this nature may struggle as an entrepreneur. They are usually better off in an environment where the business is already established, where structure and guidelines are in place, and there is an existing system and business model that drives profitability. Starting a new business from scratch may not be your forte at this juncture.

SCORES FROM 4 - 7:

Profiles of this nature may encounter some hurdles as an entrepreneur. But if you are equipped with the right support, knowledge, and skills, you may see some success, particularly if the job function is right and the business is in the right industry. Starting a new business can be considered, but success would largely depend on your ability to build a strong network and choose the right business partners to work with.

SCORES ABOVE 8:

Profiles of this caliber may find it easy and even natural to pursue their path as an entrepreneur. They have the qualities to be successful in business, and success may very much depend on the business concept, the chosen field, and the timing.

JY Workforce Dynamics Sdn Bhd (1059638-P)

www.drtprofile.com